

H. H. STEVENS
SCREED MEETS
PREMIER'S FIRE

"I Will Not Rest Until Something Is Done To Remedy This Disgrace—I Do Not Care What Happens," Says Minister

The following, which appeared in the Winnipeg Free Press of Tuesday, August 7, 1934, is a substantially complete summary of the Stevens screed, which has been expressed on the orders of H. H. Stevens and about which such a storm of controversy has arisen since this sensational action was taken. It is being reproduced by The Edmonton Bulletin today as a public man, and that its contents should be given to the public interest.

The Stevens statement is dated July 27, although it was first put into circulation last Thursday or Friday. In form it is an exact duplicate of the ordinary reports of the bureau of statistics. Only upon examination does it emerge that the bureau is not mentioned.

On the front page appear the following statements in large type:

"Price spreads and mass buying."
"An explanation of the work done and results achieved by the special select committee of the House of Commons."

"Deploable conditions in some businesses revealed."
"Hon. H. H. Stevens declares he will never rest until remedies are found and does not care what happens."

"Wages cut when fallow in the industry."
"Minister of Trade and Commerce issues warning of gravity of outrageous situation and danger to our constitutional structure."

STATEMENT SIGNED BY STEVENS

The statement then begins, under the signature of Mr. Stevens:

"I have studied Canadian affairs assiduously during my term in parliament. I have tried to keep in touch with the interests of the people at large. I think my interests have been largely wrapped up in those of the general public and, during recent years in particular, certain things have become very deeply impressed upon my mind."

"It became abundantly clear to me that a great section of the people of Canada was laboring under unusual handicaps. There was acute suffering—refer to the farming community. It is true, the farmer generally has suffered also, but I think there is no class of the people that have to endure such a broad leveling down. That is my impression, that is my conviction. Approximately 50 per cent. of the people of Canada are agricultural, directly or indirectly associated with that industry. I think I am justified in saying that the broad basis upon which our national economic life exists is agriculture. I am not unmindful of all other activities, but cannot escape that magnitude of our farming industry."

"Therefore, it was impressed upon my mind very vividly that those who were more or less responsible for the economic life as well as the public life of the country, must address themselves the problem of the solution of the difficulties of agriculture. That is one point I want to make."

CITES DIFFICULTIES

What are the difficulties? Mr. Stevens divides them into two classes. There are external or world conditions. He studied these but concluded that Canada could not make any very large contribution to the solution on world problems. The government, however, has done its best. There are internal causes. Mr. Stevens deals with various agricultural products in this regard. He finds that wheat is exported in such large quantities when compared with home consumption that "we can do little there."

"We have done what we could," he says, "but we could not control the price."

"But turn to other products, about 98 per cent. of our beef is consumed in Canada. Therefore, I assert, I dogmatize on this, that the conditions regarding beef are within our control. Of our bacon and hog products 90 per cent. is consumed in Canada. Butter is all controlled in Canada. More than 330,000,000 pounds or thereabouts is consumed in the Dominion and about 4,000,000 pounds exported, which is a mere bagatelle. Between 40 and 50 per cent. of our cheese is consumed in Canada. Eggs are practically all consumed in the Dominion."

"Take those products which pretty well cover the major activities of agriculture and it at once becomes clear that a substantial portion of our problems, so far as agriculture is concerned, is within the control of Canada. Being within our control it was our duty, to my mind, to address ourselves to achieving an equitable distribution of these products on a reasonably profitable basis. When I made a study in Winnipeg in the fall of 1933 on the question of livestock, I did it because I felt that there was no justification for the low price that was being paid to the farmers for these things. Hogs were gradually rising, because of the amount that we could get over to the British market under the imperial trade agreement. But for the hands which find a western producer of first-class steers, high-grade, well finished steers, getting as some of them did, as low as a cent and a half a pound on the ranch, and two and a quarter cents and so on in the Winnipeg market, the thing is outrageous."

SOUGHT FOR CAUSES

"It seemed to me to be something that we had to face. I looked earnestly for causes and I became convinced that the bringing of the control of that great industry into the hands of a few men was a concern—certainly not more than two—indicated that here lay, perhaps, part of the cause of our trouble. I was convinced then and I am more than convinced now, as a result of the investigations we have carried on, that these companies controlled that business. I am only going to cite in that respect one point, and it is this, that during the last four years of intense depression, this...

500,000 FACING DEATH

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
Associated Press Foreign Staff
SHANGHAI, Aug. 10.—The horsemanship that is death rode throughout China today, gathering the harvest of thirst and starvation in the wake of searing drought.
From the province of Anhui came an appeal, the national government, five hundred thousand face starvation there, the message said.
The drought is described as one of the worst in centuries, one of the worst in a nation where vast tracts are without water.
Conditions are worse in Anhui, in the heart of China, but other provinces are also suffering severely. Almost everywhere, searching the skies for rain, have been disappointed many times since June in Hunan, Huguang and Homan, in Shensi and Shantung.

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
ABERDEEN, Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt came out of the northwest last night with the declaration to "the people of the United States that the 'new deal' is going ahead."
Speaking in deliberate and emphatic voice to another of the many helpful throngs which met him at Green Bay, Wis., he declared: "In one year and five months the people of the United States have received at least a partial answer to their demands for action and neither the demand nor the action has reached the end of the road."
To the great national movement that culminated in 1932," he said, "I am proud to say that I have seen the people of the United States and they have answered me with a voice that is clear and strong. They have said to me: 'We are with you. We are with you. We are with you.'"

CANUCK FLIERS TO TRY AGAIN

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The first market flight since the record of 6,500 miles in 1933, by the Canadian team, Leonard Beal and James Aylmer, who yesterday completed a hop from Winnipeg, Manitoba, to London, England, to have another try at it.
"I would like to have another shot at it," Beal said. "I am not marked. Meanwhile the two transatlantic fliers are hoping to be invited to pilot their ship, 'The Trail of the Caribou,' in the London-to-Newfoundland race in October."

Inside Story Of Great War Told

On page 13 of The Edmonton Bulletin today, there is announced the forthcoming publication of probably the greatest piece of war literature yet penned in the English language. It is the memoirs of the Great War written by David Lloyd George, Britain's war-time premier, the man, who, in that great emergency, rose to almost superhuman heights. The book has from time to time printed the memoirs of various war-time statesmen and diplomats—Grey of Pallado, Lord Belling, Winston Churchill, and others. But never any document so commanding, so revealing, so devastating as this. It begins Saturday in The Bulletin. Lloyd George's story deals particularly with the Passchendaele offensive of the most tragic events of the whole war in which the Canadian Corps played such a prominent part.

ALBERTA DEBT ACT DISCUSSED AT U.F.A. MEET

Medicine Hat, Alta., Aug. 10.—Fanned by a strong south wind, forest fires in the Cypress Hills flared anew during the night and today again threatened the summer colony along the shores of Elkwater Lake, 40 miles south of here.
Royal Canadian Mounted patrol the situation of the summer resort today recruiting every available man for the fire. More than 30 men have been battling the flames for the past two days.
Sutton Coulee, on the east side of the lake, is in the path of the flames this morning. The mountain farm and ranch buildings in the area and thousands of dollars worth of farm equipment is in immediate danger.

Plenty Of Grief In The Kootenays

NELSON, B.C., Aug. 10.—While residents of the west arm of Kootenay lake breathed sighs of relief today as the forest fire above them on Mount Nelson, gave way, there was plenty of grief elsewhere in the Kootenays.
Hundreds of fighters are hardily holding their ground against outbreaks at various points. In several places they have been forced back, but on the whole there is improvement in the situation.
It would appear, however, that only this will refer to the country, based as it is under a sun which has been shining since 8 p.m. A drenching rain to wash away the pall of smoke and drive the fighters a breather, is needed.

THIRTY YEARS OF PROGRESS

FORD 4-CYLINDER 1904

Ford V-8 Victoria

1934 FORD V-8

THIS August marks the Thirtieth Anniversary of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited. Years move fast in the automobile business and time brings many changes.

Just thirty years ago the first Ford was making its appearance on the roads of Canada. It looks strange and old-fashioned to us now, but in its day it was a great car. Many Canadians still remember their pride in it and speak kindly of its performance. It was a pioneer and it blazed new trails.

The Ford V-8 of today is far different from the Ford car of 1904. Different in appearance. Different in design. Different in almost everything except the fact that it runs on four wheels.

Yet it, too, is a pioneer—blazing new trails of performance and value—bringing a new kind of transportation within reach of all the people. Now, for the first time in the history of the automobile industry, a V-8 cylinder automobile is available at a low price. No other car under $4000 gives you the matchless speed, power and smoothness of a V-8 engine.

Such quality would not be possible if it were not for Ford policies and Ford methods of production. Back of the Ford V-8 are thirty years of progress in engineering and production. Built into it are the reliability and economy that you have always associated with the Ford car and a sincere desire to give you the most for your automobile dollars.

"THE CANADIAN CAR"

Ford cars sold in Canada are made almost wholly in Canada, of Canadian materials, by Canadian workmen. In the last ten years, the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, has spent in Canada $202,000,000 for materials, wages, etc. This expenditure represents a substantial contribution to the prosperity of Canada.

Mr. Bryden addressed the gathering shortly following his nomination. The meeting opened by a letter addressed by D. M. Duggan, provincial Conservative leader. He referred to the provincial organization and stated that Hon. B. B. Bennett and himself had agreed to place a candidate in every constituency in Alberta if it were at all advisable. General Reid was asked to head the organizing committee and that every candidate would receive all possible assistance in the matter of literature and speakers. Mr. Duggan said "No stone would be left unturned to put on a vigorous campaign."

Mr. Bryden said that no platform had been given. He said that when all constituencies had nominated their men they would all stand together and one would lay hands and means of getting the Conservatives elected in every constituency from every walk of life would have a wealth of experience to contribute to their fellow men.

He referred to the financial condition of the province and said that if the budget could be balanced, money would be paid for 2 1/2 per cent instead of paying from the U.P.A. government. He stated that the U.P.A. government added one million dollars to the debt every year. He said that the government was bankrupt and concluded by saying "I am not a Tory, but I am a Canadian. I cannot solve modern problems with antiquated ideas."

Trade News Is The Real News

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

There is no possibility of a major European war at present. Much more definite progress in aviation will precede another major conflict.

Idleness, without prospect of early re-employment, has led to many mischievous organizations in Central Europe; but none of them have national or international strength.

Chancellor Hitler or naval bases that Germany has no place in the sun or an army has raised; starvation will defeat any German effort at war.

Any reasonable trade facilities will remove all German menace to the peace of the world. Austria must have commerce, and has no hope of conquest.

The war news of today is based on idleness, destitution and hunger.

The peace news of today is anything relating to trade exclusion. That is why the most important message of the present month is found only on inside pages of American newspapers. It reads:

Washington: Alexander Troianovsky, envoy of the U.S.B. and Secretary Cordell Hull joined in expressing satisfaction with progress made in wrestling with questions involving American trade with Russia.

Canada has in Prince Rupert a port on the Pacific Coast open twelve months in the year which can afford to commerce with Vladivostok an ocean shorter than from any American port. The Canadian National Railway system extends to Prince Rupert.

Under present maritime conditions a very reasonable subsidy and mail contract would secure a ten-day steamship service between Prince Rupert and Vladivostok—moving down to one of the full terminals during the weeks of each year in which Vladivostok is closed by winter conditions.

But we are too righteous in Canada to trade with any national who holds the security of those devotions there is any doubt. The facts that the Canadian National Railway would increase its earnings by several million dollars a year, and that many Canadians would regain steady employment are not sufficient to get the right to re-open trade with Russia.

est on the borrowed capital would be a great help towards relief of the unemployed, and there would be no danger of Ottawa finding it necessary to cut out of a mere substance if we did not have our share of that debt to pay off.

The cost of pension to returned soldiers, their widows and their children has reached a total of over $50,000,000 per annum. This means that we have paid out about a billion dollars in pensions during the past 15 years, and the money from where they are paid are all paying interest to the holders of the bonds.

The play referred to in the letter of the bond, the guardian of the boy had received a war widow's pension and they are all allowed to live on the death of the father. In such cases the present pensioners would be quite satisfactorily, but in many instances it is considered that the pension is too small. In some instances, there are returned men who draw large pensions to the extent of total disability, and who are in receipt of salaries from Government and private sources which many a man would be only too glad to work for. Can the country afford to give these large pensions to a few when there are so many other citizens who cannot even get the necessities of life because our Government state they cannot afford to make the same grants as they have in the past?

Many millions could be spared from the pension fund and put to better use if our Government would investigate the question of the pension.

Chinese Refuse To Marry Women With Bound Feet

Anti-foot Binding Movement Is Symbolic of National Emancipation

Symbolic of the emancipation of the women of China is the new movement sponsored by the Chinese government to abolish the custom of foot binding. This custom, which has been practiced for centuries, involves the binding of the feet of young girls so that they become deformed. The government has now decided to abolish this custom, and it has issued a decree to that effect. This movement is seen as a symbol of the national emancipation of China.

The young men of China who have been bound by the custom of foot binding are now being educated in the West. They are learning about the world and about the rights of women. This education is helping to change their minds and to make them more open to the ideas of the West. They are now becoming more interested in the rights of women and in the importance of education for all.

ALBERTA HAS CHANCE TO AID TAXPAYERS, SAY LIBERALS

United Front To Amend B.N.A. Act Is Now Possible

Pointed Out Liberal Government in Every Province, Soon to be in Power at Ottawa, Also.

The Alberta election has the opportunity of saving Canada, for the first time since Confederation, a united front of Liberalism which will result in a government in the British North America Act that will give relief to the overburdened taxpayer of this province and the other provinces of Canada, declared W. S. Campbell, president of the East Edmonton Liberal Association when addressing the members of the Liberal club on Thursday evening.

Over 150 members of the club were present at the meeting which discussed the plan of the party platform dealing with reduction of taxes and the reduction of government expenses which would result in the lowering of governmental costs.

Police Hunt for Men Who Criminally Attacked Young Girl

assaulted her. One of the men held her in the face with his fist, making her scream and then, she said, he came into the bushes and forced her into the bushes.

The girl then ran to her home and told her mother what had happened. Her mother immediately called the police.

Lloyd George Flays Famous British 'Brass-Hats'

Britain's war-time Prime Minister, David Lloyd George, recently took up his pen to complete his war memoirs. With the twentieth anniversary of Britain's declaration of war against Germany just passed, The Bulletin tomorrow will present new and unpublished chapters of these memoirs dealing with the Battle of Passchendaele, in which Lloyd George pictures the costly offensive of August-September, 1917, as one of the most tragic tactical blunders of the war. In this operation, total British casualties numbered 400,000, including 16,000 Canadians. At Passchendaele, too, the Canadian Corps rose to supreme heights of heroism and sacrifice. But Britain's war-time Premier says the sacrifice and heroism were needless and in vain — due to "blunders of back area brass hats".

CURRIE DEMAND OBTAINED GUNS FOR GREAT BATTLE

Refused Passchendaele Offensive Until Proper Artillery Support Provided

16,000 CASUALTIES

Every Man of Four Canadian Divisions Fought in Engagement

At Passchendaele every man of the four Canadian divisions in France, in October, 1917, saw action and between October 26 and November 10 of that year 16,000 Canadians went down as casualties, shot in battle, or drowned in mud in the day as many plain piled with shells that were thick with enemy men and stretched by dead things a plain strewn with abandoned trophies, twisted with flames, disintegrated water.

The British offensive had collapsed. The Italian forces under at Caporetto had changed two British and two French divisions and the French army had suffered 250,000 casualties in the Champagne offensive. As severe as that, 10 French army corps had suffered.

Currie had been subordinate to British command and the order had gone forth that the British front must divert the enemy from the weakened segments of the allied front.

The Canadians were pulled up from the Vimy-Lens salient and, on the eve of what has become one of the most controversial events of the great war, General Sir Arthur Currie, urged up to check the artillery that was shown to be supporting him. The artillery was under strength, though the charts showed them at par, and when General Currie pressed, General Hunter replied: "If the guns aren't there, you can't do it."

Currie was not a profane man, and the price to his reply is not quoted, but it proceeded: "Damn it, Butler, you don't think I can fight the Boche with intent. It's guns I want. To hell with your intent." And Currie got the guns for a situation described by one of the most heroic who went through it in these words:

TORTURED LIMBS

"Only blackened, true stumps. These were the tortured limbs in mud pools against their decision. Everywhere lay the debris of war. Rotting segments of what had once been human beings protruded from the churned-up earth. The hours of darkness brought nightmares of unseen death, long agonies of body and mind. Huddled in the mud and swamps of Passchendaele men kept cheerless vigil. They were chilled and soaked. There was no relief for them. They and night the shells falling in the air, the first streaks of dawn would see survivors rising from the mud-mine to find a few more weary miles toward their goal. A few yards curtained by avalanches of shells and soon littered with dead and dying. A few yards with rising Passchendaele mud was all that would mark their achievement at the end of the day."

STUPENDOUS JOB
No undertaking of the Canadian Corps reflects greater credit upon it and in none of the Great War were all units of the Canadian army in France so completely employed. The artillery was up at full strength. The Third and Fourth divisions were the spearhead of the first two major engagements of the war and the First and Second divisions relieved them in complete the success of the undertaking.

To reflect upon the many achievements of the Canadian Corps and attempt to select one that conveys a more vivid picture of heroism and sacrifice than others, is to embark on a stupendous undertaking. From Vimy to Amiens, Canadian fought on every sector; they have earned the plaudits of the entire world. Their bravery had been exacted by all the people of the earth while their stubborn determination in defense, their resolute valor in assault, evoked the admiration of even the Great General staff. Yet, as an officer that would stand with them, they were not only brave but also successful as they were courageous. During the whole of 1918 the continuous battle of the allied and the protracted horrors of the Somme demonstrated their great endurance, while Vimy Ridge was a high-water mark of endeavor. What then of the glorious tragedy of Passchendaele?

The summer of 1917 was passed among the slag-heaps and "scars" of Lens; the war of attrition was conducted remorselessly and without ceasing. Wounded German divisions withdrawn from the battlefield of Ypres to less active sectors, fell the harassed victims of Canadian aggression. By the middle of October, falling shortly upon the thunderbolt launched at Hill 70, the Canadians left the comparatively pleasant and peaceful environment of the front and were marched to face more more the desolation of Flanders.

THE BIG OBJECTIVE
It had been early announced that the objective of the corps would be

ARMY SQUADS IN FINALS OF TENNIS TOURNEY

Net stars enjoy tournament at Seabright, N.J.

There is quite a number of "There of David" ball club tourneys going on throughout the country, but there is only one that means anything as far as local fans are concerned. Edmonstone says their favorite team last night when the "Tennis House of David" performed at Seabright Park and they cheered the marbles off any in the opinion of every cash customer in the stands. The team which showed here last night is the first to pay a visit to this city and members of it remain as popular as ever.

John Tucker, as great a fielder as ever performed under the big tent of the marbles and more than brought rounds of applause with his smart handling of the ball. If he was a great a fielder as he is in the field, major league clubs would cry for his contract—and he's not a bad hitter, at that.

DEFEATS GUNN STRAIGHT SETS IN FINE MATCH

Mrs. Eustice Enters Into Women's Finals—Many Good Matches

By JACK OLIVER

With the first of the open singles of the provincial tennis tournament in progress at the Glenora club, by eliminating Douglas Gunn, Calgary singles champion on Thursday afternoon in straight sets at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Mrs. Eustice and Mrs. Eustice Collins entered the final of the women's singles by defeating, respectively, Mrs. George Taylor and Miss McAvoy. Mrs. Eustice won at 6-2, while Mrs. Eustice Collins won at 6-4, 6-2.

Miss McAvoy and Josephine Carrigan advanced to the final of the women's doubles by defeating the formidable Calgary team of Mrs. Eustice-Gardner and Mrs. Eustice-Gardner in straight sets at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

In the opposite half of the draw to Harrison in the men's open singles are Harry Kinloch, Edmonton and former provincial champion, and George McFarlane, University of Alberta, who met in their semi-final match at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Kinloch did not get the semi-final match into an easy one, but he was able to get the first set at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. The match was a close one, but Kinloch was able to get the first set at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

CRAG TWIRLS. MCKE SQUAD TO TITLE WIN

Edmonton Champs Take Northern Alberta Soft-Ball Trophies—Defeating Camrose 5-4.

Continuing their winning ways in their drive towards the provincial young football title, Mickey McKie's McKie's Edmonton champions, narrowed the gap between them and their arch-rivals, the Camrose team, by a 5-4 count to capture the Northern Alberta championship in their fourth game of the two game series at Camrose.

The smooth functioning Edmonton champions, showing a big improvement over their last performance, were given a stiff battle by the Camrose team, but they were able to win the game by a 5-4 count. The game was a close one, but the Edmonton team was able to get the first set at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

The "pepper game" remains a favorite with all fans and the particular House of David undoubtedly has the best of all. They can do things quicker with the marbles than any other team can follow, which is a compliment to their ability.

Halfway through last night's game it was arranged with John Tucker, who is now manager of the team, that his club would come back here for a game Monday night. That will give an indication for every one of those who saw the Thursday game to turn out.

While Edmonstone missed the hitting strength of Bill Fisher, back up in tonight's game, he was able to get the first set at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. The match was a close one, but Kinloch was able to get the first set at 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

With the middle of August fast rolling around, Canadian football is almost in order and those most closely related to the game are beginning to make preparations for the fall season. It is unlikely that this city will have a team in the fall, but there will be at least two, and possibly three, junior teams.
